

Become Part of Our Network

Work with us to increase the number of teachers and leaders reaching new generations of learners with the IB pedagogy and philosophy. Ultimately, teacher education adds an exciting and important professional development pathway for IB educators. By incorporating the global perspectives of IB into your own teacher education programme, you can build the capacity of educators to teach in ways that are oriented to a global future.

Increase your impact on international education

As an important part of a respected, worldwide education community, our university can capitalise on the IB educator certificates too.

- foster relationships with like-minded institutions around the world
- prepare educators to teach and lead in an international context
- ease the challenges of practicum placement by providing access to a network of IB World Schools
- demonstrate a commitment to international education
- gain access to the "worldwide community" of IB educators and resources, including more than 100,000 teachers from 141 countries through the IB's online curriculum centre
- engage in international education research opportunities and collaborate with a research network
- attract an internationally minded cohort of students
- offer full access to world-class curriculum that is competitively researched and regularly reviewed and updated
- receive technical communications and marketing support from IB staff
- use the IB name and in cooperation with IB, include a dedicated page on the IB website with university details and resources that more than 1 million pages are viewed every month in English, French and Spanish
- offer students an external career-building network.

IB Certificates in Teaching and Learning

THE INTERNATIONAL SYMBOL OF EXCELLENCE

IB teaches transform theory into practice, but IB teachers go beyond. Grounded in a global mind-set, IB teachers are critical to providing higher-order thinking skills into a new generation of learners. Integrating IB philosophy and pedagogy can add another facet to your contemporary teacher education.

- The IB teaching and learning framework offers universities to offer two distinct experiences for IB certification:
  - Students who pursue the IB certificate in teaching and learning examine the principles and practices associated with each of these IB programmes (the Primary Years, Middle Years and Diploma Programmes). The courses that lead to this certificate shape pre-service and in-service educators into reflective practitioners and teacher researchers.
  - Students who pursue the IB advanced certificate in teaching and learning research are those who have IB experience and wish to engage in rigorous, systematic and innovative work to further their knowledge and expertise. Participants explore research and literature as well as their own IB practice to delve deeper into the areas of curriculum development, pedagogy and assessment.
- Students may choose to undertake a dual certification at university that offer both types of certificates.

Develop influential leaders in education

The collaboration between our university and the IB offers a rich learning experience for the education, including:

- increased mobility for educators who wish to teach internationally
- a competitive advantage in the international critical marketplace
- unique opportunities to integrate theory into practical experiences
- working with leading academics
- a valued credential
- access to resources from the IB community, such as access to the IB's online curriculum centre—the hub of information and activity within the IB's professional teaching and learning community
- a network of colleagues for research and publishing consultation
- ongoing professional development and tailored workshops nationally and internationally
- educator collaboration at regional conferences and events

IB Certificates in Leadership

EMPOWERING LEADERS TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Those certified in IB leadership can inspire and guide a school community to implement and sustain IB programmes at authorized IB World Schools. IB certificates in leadership educate IB educators to understand the leadership practices associated with leading in the global IB community as well as within the IB World School.

- The IB leadership framework offers universities to offer two distinct leadership experiences for IB certification:
  - The IB certificate in leadership practice is designed for educators and administrators who want to improve their leadership capabilities or career aspirations in an IB context. Participants develop and refine their capacity to take on leadership responsibilities and understand the role leader play in guiding a school through IB authorization and implementation.
  - The IB advanced certificate in leadership research provides a more poetic and understanding of leadership responsibilities and capabilities through your investigative work. It includes research within IB leadership contexts as well as deep reflection on one's own leadership practice.

Streamlined and Simple: IB Course Recognition

The IB works with universities to streamline the process of aligning a course of study by providing ongoing consultation and connections with the IB community.

Fees for Individuals*

CERTIFICATE REGISTRATION FEE

After completion of the course of study, candidates must register for each certificate and pay a one-time fee of £150 (or equivalent in Swiss Francs or US dollars). Please note that the higher education institution is not responsible for the collection or administration of fees from certificate participants.
